EASTERN MARKETS YESTERDAY

(By L. J. Overlock)

BOSTON, Aug. 17.—Local coppers were inclined to sag today at one time. The market broke as it did on stop orders in Hancock. Around the lower level good buying came in and at the close the offerings were small. Old Dominion made a new high price at 60, and is going further. C. and A. is being picked up by insiders, all the time.

Look for a revival of activity next week.

Dullness has characterized the local curb issues the past week, only a few transactions being recorded. Pressure to sell is not pronounced, however, and offerings only moderate. Calumet oil stock has been heavily dealt in, all offerings under 5 being readily absorbed. People familiar with the property and conditions are very optimistic over the immediate prospects of the company.

Baltimore Oil has been comparatively quiet the past few days, but holders are confident, with offerings few and far between.

Total sales New York 245,500. Copper metal firm at 17.34.

CAUSE FOR FEAR

A few days ago a pert, stylishly dressed young widow hailed a cab and as she mounted the step she noted the old horse acted quite frisky and the other picked up his ears, as if he had, as soon run away as to look at you. "The widow being rather child about horses anyway, said to the driver: 'I hope you won't run away with me driver.'"

"No mum," he quickly replied, "I got a wife and eight children at home already."—From Norman E. Mack's National Monthly.
